Location & Local Information

Located in Tróia, a flawless peninsula that attracts visitors for its golden sands and crystal-clear waters. Villa Enes is a must visit for those beach lovers, with multiple wonderful beaches surrounding the region.

Tróia is also a great location to eat delicious fresh fish, trying your hand at golf on the Tróia golf course (one of the best golf courses in Europe) or seeing the peninsula's Roman Ruins which date all the way back to the 1st Century.

Villa Enes is only 10km from the rice-farming village of Comporta which is widely regarded as a great discreet escape for holidaymakers who want true peace and quiet, with only one quaint little beach bar that provides a much-needed watering hole.

Situated on the Alentejo coast, Comporta is home to a rice museum, that represents the region's history with the food. The museum building itself was previously a rice factory before being restored in 2006 and today is a haven of great food available for visitors to try; savoury rice plates, fresh fish and meat, delectable desserts and fine wines.

Comporta is home to little over 1000 residents and is a humble yet fine staple of luxurious tranquillity with luscious vineyards and enchanting rice fields, but it also provides a range of fun activities.

A wine sunset party is available to visitors, where they can ride a catamaran boat along the coast and taste the finest wines, cheeses and oysters native to the region. There is also live music, jazz and yoga sessions available nearby for guests wishing to de-stress while appreciating the local cultural hotspots.
