Overview

Prepare for an unforgettable trip to Thailand at one of the unique holiday homes across the world! Villa Chon, the lighthouse villa, offers whole families and groups of up to six people, an opportunity to unwind and experience joy across multiple floors, a range of outdoor areas and options for either relaxation or entertainment!

Built into the staple building across nearly every island around the world, Villa Chon's architecture constantly reminds you that you are living the island life, so make sure you catch the ambience! Not only have the architects constructed a villa into a lighthouse but they also finished it with sophistication, sleek and plush furnishings and design and clever use of glass and windows to produce a villa that oozes luxury across its five floors!

The ground floor of Villa Chon hosts a toilet and shower room, so you don't have to travel up floors to be relieved. Step into the living area, where cosy nights on the comfy and elongated day bed will provide an opportunity for families to bond or enjoy a film on the in-villa movie library and on the 60-inch LCD television.

The first of two master bedrooms in this villa is located beyond the living area and can also be accessed through the patio. Guests are afforded a king-size bed to snooze in as you watch television before you sleep, or gaze across the patio and fall asleep to ocean vistas! The en-suite bathroom, spacious and gorgeously decorated, provides normal amenities such as a toilet and shower and also allows guests to soak in bubbles with bubbly in the jacuzzi bath! Step outside to the outdoor shower and feel as if you are in the jungle, as you take a shower under the privacy of palm trees and emerald green fauna!

The massive outdoor area on this floor is perfect for accommodating the whole family, featuring a massive outdoor day bed to sprawl, snooze and snuggle on under a shade-providing roof and a charming dining area, perfect for alfresco meals with sunset views! The main attraction of this area, however, will have to be the large infinity pool, overlooking the Andaman Sea and offering both hours of fun whenever you want and relief from the Thailand sun!

Up to the stairs to the second floor takes you a fantastic area, that could stand alone as a villa by itself! With a terrace area offering a dining area for two, sun-loungers and another outdoor bed, guests can stay upstairs and still enjoy the wonders of the open Thailand air! With the second of the two master bedrooms located on this floor, guests can enjoy the same features as the master bedroom on the ground floor including an en-suite bathroom with a jacuzzi tub but with the added bonus of another day bed in the room!

The third floor offers yet another outdoor terrace for phenomenal vistas to accompany you as you recline on another set of sun-loungers! A room offering a huge daybed and another television can allow for some quiet or more intimate times!

The fourth floor within the lighthouse Villa Chon provides yet another 40-inch television and a single bed! The floors height means that incredible views are offered through its windows, for the perfect start to days!

And just when you thought Villa Chon had given you too much already, prepare to be blown away by the stunning observatory constructed at the very top of the lighthouse, on the fifth floor. A huge, circular, vivid red daybed ensures that families receive the vistas that lighthouses were built for so prepare to be blown away as you get the best views of the island and sea available! A terrace runs around the outside of this magnificent room, for those who want an uninterrupted view of glorious sunsets!
