The living room is modern and airy, with one side that opens fully, enabling breezy open-plan living. A giant dove grey corner sofa provides enough space for everyone to relax and watch a film together on the widescreen satellite TV. It is decorated in fresh white and soft neutral tones and has a calming and fresh aesthetic.

The fully equipped kitchen is ideal for self-caterers, complete with an oven and dishwasher. Sit at the stylish, flower-adorned breakfast bar, with room for four additional people. Whip up a delicious home-cooked feast or get inspired by Mediterranean cooking. There's an abundance of places to dine around the property - on the terrace and roof, it's up to you.

Ascend the outdoor spiral staircase to discover the exquisite roof terrace with a luxurious hot tub and two additional seating areas. The hot tub is the epitome of indulgence - let the bubbling aquamarine water lift all of your cares away. Sink into the soft grey sofas, breathe in the fresh air and admire the unparalleled view. There is another dining table here if you prefer.

The exteriors are a modern blend of slick matte grey and a feature wall of burnt sienna. A standout feature of this property is the glass wall - this provides all three bedrooms with gorgeous sea views and ensures the whole villa gets plenty of natural light. Location & Local Information

This villa is perfectly placed in tranquil Kapparis on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus. Slightly under the radar, this area on the eastern coast is just five minutes from a peaceful beach with crystal clear waters and powdery sand. The village centre has all the necessary amenities, including shops, restaurants and bars. For exciting nightlife, fine dining and even more beaches, head to Protaras, a larger resort five minutes from Kapparis.

In this area, you'll find Fig Tree Bay, named after its single pine tree and known for its watersports. You can try out kitesurfing, water skiing and paragliding here - take your pick from the aqua-based adventures on offer. Alternatively, the beach is simply beautiful in its own right. Shimmering water for swimming, golden sand for strolling and incredible soaring views of Hellenic tombs and forestry - this beach has it all.

Alternatively, visit the spectacular Nissi beach, which is also close to the villa. This beach is a photographer's dream with its powdery white sand and water in a hundred intermingling shades of blue and green. You can also try watersports here, such as windsurfing as well as scuba diving. Corfu's coral reefs are breathtaking and give an insight into marine life in its natural habitat.

Cyprus is dotted with vineyards, pine trees and wildflower-filled meadows. The coastline is adorned with dazzling white-sand beaches and impossibly blue water, while there's hiking, museums and ancient ruins to explore inland.

A day trip to Paphos is a great way to understand Cyprus' history and culture - the island is home to one of the oldest civilisations in the Mediterranean. There's so much to see and do in this area with well-preserved tombs, Roman ruins, and mosaics to discover. The Tombs of the Kings, interestingly, never involved royals but were named after how grand the underground chambers and tombs were.

In Paphos, why not visit Aphrodite's Rock, the spiritual home of the Greek goddess of love. Aphrodite is said to have been born of the sea foam in Paphos. Swim around the rock three times you will be blessed with eternal youth, true love, beauty, good fortune and fertility, according to ancient mythology. A word of warning: the sea here is rough! However, a pilgrimage to see Aphrodite's Rock from the beach (Petra Tou Romiou) is a lovely idea.

Cyprus has Europe's last divided capital. Nicosia is a fascinating city, split between Greek and Turkish Cypriots and with an Old Town surrounded with city walls. Nicosia is home to many fascinating and quirky museums. From Cyprus Museum, showcasing important historical and archaeological finds to the Museum of Motorcycles, it's perfect for some indoor time and learning.

Cyprus has diverse and vibrant cuisine - the best way to start is with a traditional meze platter. This way, you can get try out lots of different local dishes, such as atelia - pork cooked in red wine - and dips such as tahini, taramosalata and skordalia. Of course, Cyprus is where halloumi originates, grilled or barbecued to perfection and served with pitta bread, salad and a side of hummus. For dessert, tuck into some sticky baklava - so indulgent!

The island is blessed with many natural wonders, such as Larnaca Salt Lake, beloved by migrating birds and a dizzying array of shrimp. Made up of four salt pans and home to charming flamingoes, the salt pan features in both Muslim and Christian lore. In summer, when the salt is fully dry, visitors can see the salt span across the horizon.
