Location & Local Information

Koh Samui is a fantastic island destination for couples with luxury resorts, idyllic white-gold beaches, beautiful, calm sea, lush, mountainous rainforest, and so much entertainment. Although it might be tempting to just relax at the Celes resort, there is so much to see!

Bophut is famed for perhaps one of the oldest places on the island, the wonderful, rustic Fisherman's Village. Lined by old wooden Chinese shop-houses, interspaced with a few modern buildings that match the tone, it retains a distinctly Mediterranean feel. It was the main French outpost on the island for many years.

The Friday Walking Street night market offers a fantastic atmosphere. Bophut has many marvellous beachside restaurants and bars, some with beanbags on the beach. How lovely to watch the sun go down with a drink on the beach! There are many watersports available to try. The Wharf Samui in Bophut is a stylish cross between a shopping mall and a marketplace and is a great place for some small gifts.

The Ang Thong National Park is an archipelago of 42 idyllic islands stretching across the Cerulean Sea. You can snorkel, hike, dive or just swim, relax and admire the idyllic views. The coral reefs and sea life are phenomenal. It is very easy to arrange a boat trip to spend a wonderful day there.

Chaweng Beach is a buzzing resort. There are flamboyant beach parties, many nightclubs, sophisticated bars and a very eclectic, colourful local life. The ladyboy cabaret shows are famous and attract many visitors. Glitter, glitz and elaborate costumes sometimes make it difficult to see that the feminine stars are not ladies!

The famous, 12 metres tall, golden Big Budda is located at the Was Phra Yai Temple on Ko Phan, a small island offshore from the north-eastern area of Koh Samui. There are shops, food stalls and fortune tellers in the grounds. Wat Khunaran is a fascinating temple with mummified monks, displayed in caskets surrounded by flowers, candles, incense sticks and fruit offerings. The colourful Wat Plai Laem is a busy, active Buddhist temple built on the water.
