Overview

The impressive Villa Bolero is located in the Las Lomas area of the Casa de Campo resort on the southern coast of the Dominican Republic. Positioned by the 8th hole of the Dye Fore golf course, this six-bedroom property is a short distance from all the resort amenities and has its own gazebo, hot tub and private pool.

Up to twelve guests can enjoy the space and luxury of Villa Bolero, including an inviting pool terrace. Plenty of sun loungers line up beside the large, heated pool and adjacent hot tub, and the nearby gazebo houses a dining area, kitchenette and bar as well as lots of seating. Everything you need for a great day in the sun is provided, and the villa's team of four staff are on hand to help you too.

Large, open spaces inside the house offer yet more options for relaxing, with spacious lounges, a dining area with seating for ten, and a kitchen equipped with top-of-the-range appliances. Your chef will, of course, be able to handle the cooking for you.

All six of the bedrooms are air-conditioned and have an en-suite bathroom with bath tub, and some also have an outdoor shower. Each bedroom is elegantly furnished and offers plenty of space. Each one is also equipped with TV's. A sofa-bed in the television room also offers additional sleeping space.

The villa is within a short drive of the resort's many facilities. You will find three golf courses, tennis courts, a gym, spa and a variety of restaurants throughout the complex. There is also the marina and the Mediterranean village of Altos de Chavon to explore, where you can dine at the Italian restaurant, visit the artists' studios and museum, and perhaps see a show in the grand 5,000-seat amphitheatre which plays hosts to many of the biggest names in music.

Location & Local Information

Near the Dominican Republic city of La Romana, the Casa de Campo golf resort is a jewel of the south coast. With its highly rated golf courses, spa, marina and private beach – plus much more besides – it’s the perfect place to experience this country in serious style.

As well as golf courses like the legendary Teeth of the Dog, the resort’s sports facilities include tennis courts, an equestrian centre and a soccer school. The coastal location on the River Chavon makes Casa de Campo a haven for water-sport lovers too. The resort’s fitness centre offers tailored programmes if you want to push yourself in the gym, while a serene spa takes care of those calming massages and many other treatments.

The beach club at the private Minitas Beach is the ultimate chillout zone, with its cool tunes, informal dining and incredible ocean outlook. Other dining options around Casa de Campo range from food truck to gourmet, and cuisines from Italian and French to Mexican and Spanish are represented.

A stay at Casa de Campo isn’t complete without visiting the village of Altos de Chavon. Built over six years from the late 1970s, this Mediterranean village looks hundreds of years older. Look out for the 5,000-seater amphitheatre which has hosted everyone from Frank Sinatra to David Guetta – it’s an incredible place to experience an open-air concert.
