Overview

Relax with a glass of Tuscan red beneath the arched rose garden, gazing out towards the wonderful scenery around you. Surrounded by olive trees and woodland, yet just a 10-minute drive from the exquisite town of Lucca, Villa Flavus offers history and charm in an inspiring part of northern Tuscany.

Part of a large family estate that belonged to a wealthy family from Lucca in the 19th century, Villa Flavus originally dates back to the 1700s. Nowadays it has been beautifully restored into an elegant Italian holiday home with an abundance of Tuscan character from wood beamed ceilings to original tiled flooring. The living and dining areas are traditional yet stylish, the Tuscan kitchen is perfectly equipped and modern-day features include satellite TV, a music system as well as Wi-Fi throughout.

Upstairs, eight air-conditioned bedrooms, most with generous double beds, each feature their own shower room as well as charming touches adding to the old-world Tuscan ambience throughout. Maid service six days a week and the availability of a chef to prepare breakfast and one meal a day, if you wish, are further enhancements to make your stay here as special as it can be.

Outside, giant terracotta pots filled with citrus trees rest alongside stunning summer colours blooming from the rose garden, whilst olive trees are scattered across the spacious lawns surrounding the glorious swimming pool. The views from the garden and al-fresco dining terrace are simply superb, even in the evening as the pool is beautifully lit at night.

A couple of restaurants are within walking distance, as is a local village around 2km away, or drive a short distance into Lucca, a Tuscan gem filled with some of Italy's finest Renaissance and medieval architecture. Florence and Pisa are both close enough for magnificent days out and there are so many lovely villages and towns to explore such as Collodi, San Miniato and Montecatini Terme.

Enjoy walks in the foothills of Monte Pisano close by, discover idyllic scenery on horse back or head to the coast for watersports and more family fun in this captivating and beautiful region.
