Location & Local Information

Villa Aneto is situated in an outstanding, glamorous area of the Costa Brava, within very easy reach of idyllic coves, amazing restaurants and pretty, historic villages. Aigua Gelida and Tamariu are perfect for a family holiday. The area is upmarket, attractive and peaceful. Busier towns such as Begur and Girona are not far away. There is plenty of hiking, cycling and watersports for active guests. Tamariu hosts the Festival of Tamariu on 15 August with watermelon launching, Habaneras singing, a foam party and a clown who performs for the children.

You can take a walk from Tamariu over the stunning cliffs to the nearby pretty village of Llafranc following the famous Camino de Ronda hiking route. Llafranc was a favourite haunt of Salvador Dali and is very popular with the rich and famous. You will pass the lovely 19th century Sant Sebastia lighthouse on the way. Further on from Llafranc is Calella de Palafrugell which again has a wonderful ambience and will provide you will Instragrammable photos. The botanical gardens at Cap Roig are fantastic. Outdoor summer concerts are held there with famous artists. Palafrugell has an absolutely massive wine warehouse, a local landmark called Grau, which is a great place to stock up.

Begur is an astonishing Medieval village with cobbled streets and whitewashed houses draping the hillside below the ruins of its stone castle. Children are cherished and welcomed by the Catalans. Begur is entirely pedestrianised and makes for a lovely day out. The restaurants serve incredible food, especially seafood. The town of La Bisbal is home to a ceramic industry about 15 minutes from Begur. It's a great visit for ceramic lovers and anyone wanting to buy a reminder of their holiday.

Wine lovers will love this part of the Costa Brava. The Emporda region produces many delicious wines from the vineyards nestled between the Pyrenees and the Mediterranean Sea. A native grape of the region is 'Garnacha of the Emporda' with which a naturally sweet wine is produced. Another original sweet wine of the area is the Moscatel. There are many wine festivals, or you can visit some of the wineries for tastings. The Mas Geli vineyard in Pals makes six different organic wines.
