Location & Local Information

Located in a tranquil spot, just a 5-minute drive from Ribadesella and even less distance from the beach, Villa Meluerda is a fantastic base for exploring the beautiful Asturian coastline. A region of northwest Spain known for its rugged coast, mountains, religious sites and medieval architecture, this beautiful area is a little less discovered than some of the busier parts of Spain, offering the chance to immerse yourself in the natural splendours and heart-warming culture Spain is famous for.

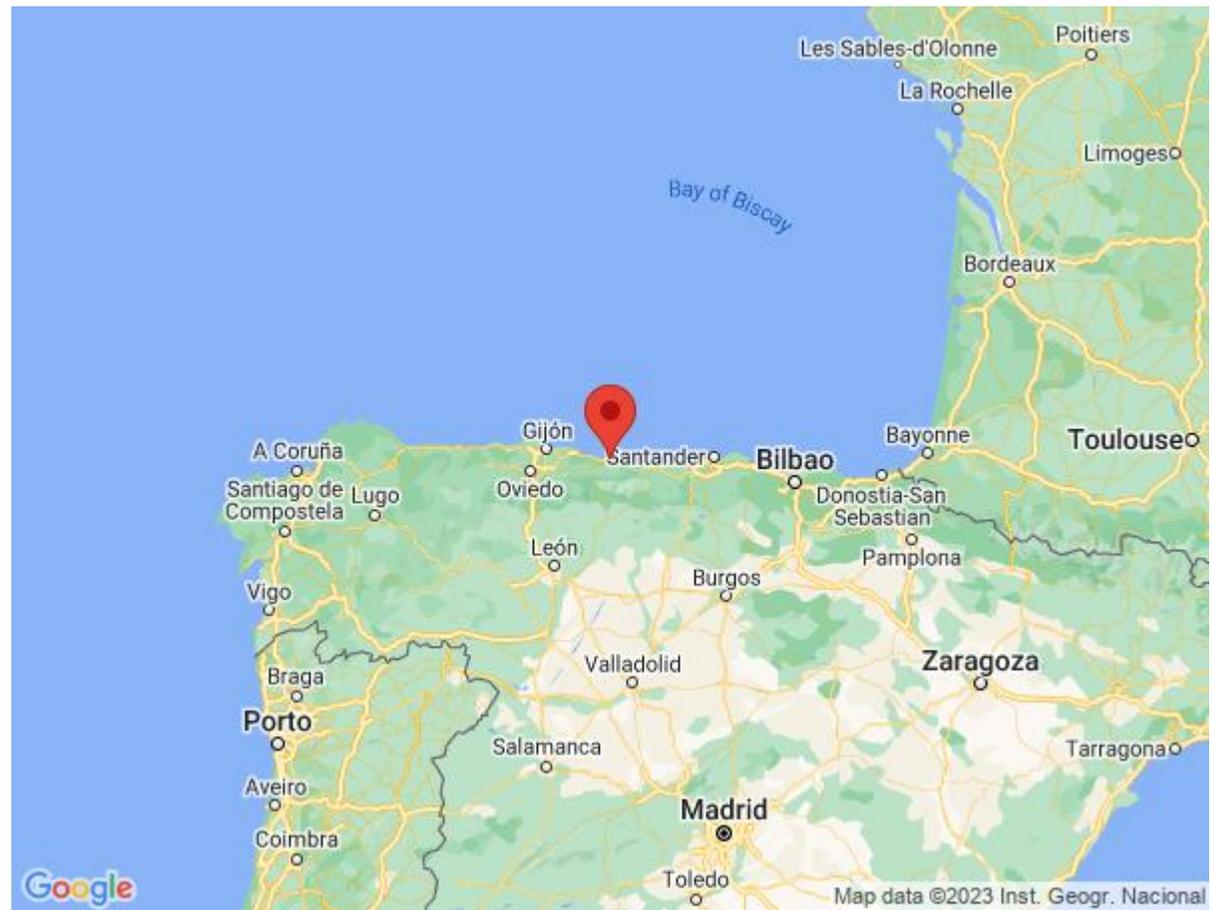

The villa itself is in a quiet location in the charming town of Meluerda. The best way to get about is by bike, and five bikes can be left at the villa for you, or there is the possibility to rent eight bikes during your stay. Of course, everything is reachable by car as well, or if you prefer you can go on foot to explore the local surroundings. In the nearby area, there are several eateries we would recommend! A restaurant called Casa Pacho, which offers tapas and an à la carte with traditional Asturian dishes. The village inn called El Texu, similarly serving tapas and à la carte dishes. And in Ribadesella, Restaurante el volante has an excellent menu that is well worth trying!

In Ribadesella you will find all the conveniences you need for your stay, with supermarkets, shops, banks and pharmacies, as well as a myriad of delicious restaurants and tapas bars. Located just a 5-minute drive or 15-minute cycle from Villa Meluerda, you can head to the town for an afternoon, exploring the remarkable Tito Bustillo Cave and sandy beaches as well as picking up supplies.

The closest beaches to the villa are Playa de Guadamia and Playa de la Atalaya, both located within a 20-minute cycle of the villa's front door, so you can enjoy the stunning coastline at your own pace. Guadamia beach is particularly popular with families, it is a small and secluded tidal beach, which sits in a nook between two cliffs. At high tide, there is a small beach to sit on, with shallow water to swim in, and as the tide goes out, small pools form with large stretches of sand to explore. Playa de la Atalaya, on the other hand, is a small rocky beach with beautiful views.
