With views out across the white sand to the blue azure of the ocean beyond, from the moment you turn up you can instantly relax, feeling any worries drift off on the ocean breeze.

The easiest way to reach the resort, is by taking a flight to Malé airport. From the airport, it is a quick 40-minute seaplane to the resort, or a domestic flight to the Ifuru Domestic Airport followed by a speedboat ride, which takes a little over an hour. Either route offers you your first glimpses of this stunning island setting, with crystal clear lagoons, limitless ocean views and white sandy beaches framed by luscious green palms.

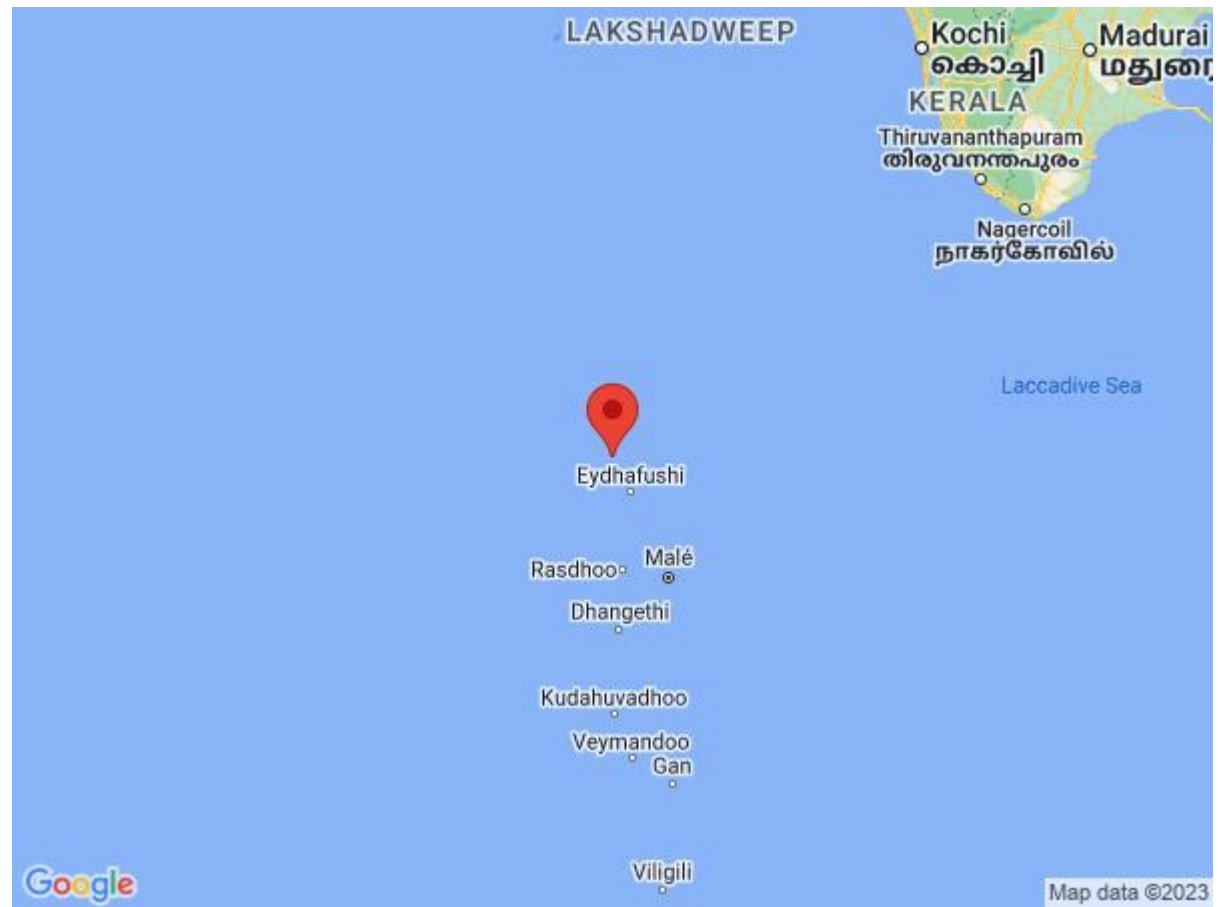

The Maldives are often depicted by lazy beach days and snorkelling trips around the bays, but the Emerald Resort facilitates both relaxing days of nothing as much as energetic activities for those desiring more adventure. The resort boasts a state-of-the-art Technogym, tennis courts, paddle courts and personalised training programs to keep you fit. The resort diving centre is popular with novice and professional divers alike, encouraging you to explore the deep ocean and the vibrant sea life that lives there.
