Location & Local Information

Villa Carol has located 7km from Imotski, a small town on the northern side of the Biokovo massif in the Dalmatian Hinterland. The Imotski lakes are a natural attraction. The Red Lake is the deepest in Europe, and the Blue Lake is a favourite bathing spot in the area. Its unique blue colour is spectacular. Imotski boasts an excellent choice of restaurants and famous wine varieties.

Half an hour away, the beautiful Makarska Riviera stretches between Brela and Gradac. It boasts incredible beaches, fragrant pine forests, glistening turquoise sea and lovely quiet bays.

Makarska itself is built around a deep, sheltered bay and backed by the dramatic rocky heights of Mount Biokovo. Makarska town is excellent for nightlife and restaurants. Some typical dishes are the delicious Bikovo cheese and 'Kastradina', which is a stew made with dried and smoked lamb, mutton or goat meat. It boasts a fabulous, palm lined promenade with cosmopolitan cafes, bars and unique boutiques and deluxe yachts in the harbour. You can take boat trips to the magical Zlatni Rat beach in Bol on Brac Island and Jelsa on Hvar. The delightful main square of Makarska Town is overlooked by the Baroque Church of St Mark and several elegant palazzi built by wealthy local merchants. The square is full of open-air restaurants and cafes, and the daily market behind the church sells fresh local produce. Baska Voda is a small charming village 9km north of Makarska and just south of Brela. Once a humble fishing village, Baska Voda's beaches, pine woods and lovely setting have made it very popular for seaside tourism.

The magnificent Biokovo Mountain is incredible for hiking. The Biokovo Nature Park has stunning scenery, wild horses and goats, the remains of old settlements, alpine plants, forests and wildflowers.

Guests staying at Villa Carol can easily enjoy the delights of the historic towns of Split, Omis and Trogir.
