

Newquay Lodge

Region: Cornwall Sleeps: 8

Overview

Boasting beautiful gardens and a fabulously airy interior, Newquay Lodge is an unmissable holiday home just seconds from the world-famous beaches of Lusty Glaze and Porth along the north Cornwall coast.

Arriving at this strikingly beautiful home you'll immediately notice the sense of space and openness, connecting you to the vast skies which stretch above you and the sea which expands infinitely, so close by! Inside you can enjoy this charming modern twist on a classically beautiful design, with an elegant kitchen with a stylish breakfast bar and open plan dining area. For a little more relaxation, you can head into this wonderfully cosy living room complete with a log burner at its heart, so you can get warm and comfortable each evening after a day outdoors! Adding a sense of glamour to the property, there's even a sun room with delightful teal furnishing where you can enjoy the warm and bright days with a good book or the morning paper. A second living room, meanwhile, with two sofas and a second dining area, ensures everybody can find a private spot to while away the restful hours of holidaying!

And when it's time to get some sleep, you'll be warmly welcomed into the enchanting bedrooms distributed across the two floors. First there's the exquisite master bedroom with its very own balcony offering breath-taking views out to sea! With an impressive king-size bed for rest, and two cosy armchairs for relaxation, this is the perfect invitation to unwind and enjoy some peace in this perfect seaside home. The second bedroom features a super-king size bed and seaside views, while the two remaining rooms each offer two wonderful single beds in welcoming and charming rooms. Impeccably stylish bathrooms guarantee pampering and privacy with huge walk-in showers and large bathtubs.

All of this is, of course, delightful - but it is surely the garden which offers the most idyllic spot for socialising, enjoying moments of solitude in the sunshine, and even alfresco dining! With countless options for a quiet moment or a jolly breakfast all together, you'll be spoilt for choice in this magical garden which wraps its way around the house! At what's more - the pub and the stunning coastline are both just a stone's throw away!

Location & Local Information

Perfectly sandwiched between Lusty Glaze beach and Porth beaches, you're truly spoilt for choice in this exceptional location looking right over the beach! Head down the 133 steps to Lusty Glaze Beach Bar and Restaurant for an unforgettable meal with a view, or head to any of the many seaside cafes up and down this coast for a more casual bite to eat!

Huge skies, sandy beaches and wild flower-strewn clifftops define Cornwall, and its warm climate, amazing scenery, and diverse Celtic heritage, including visual and written arts and its enormous wealth of archaeology, certainly justifies the fierce pride of its people. Be sure to try a Cornish pasty and delicious sweet Saffron buns (fruit buns flavoured with saffron), and of course a little Cornish Clotted cream and Ice Cream! And for a local tippie, the three major breweries of St Austell, Sharps and Skinners serve excellent beer in pubs throughout the county, and because of its mild climate Cornwall has a number of vineyards producing delicious wine, and is even known for its production of honey (mead) wine!

There are many enchanting towns in Cornwall, some famous ones include: Bude, with excellent beaches, first class surfing and a laid back, relaxed vibe in Cornwall's northern coast; Newquay, just on the doorstep, is the surfing capital of the UK; while St Ives is home to a branch of the Tate Gallery, white sand beaches and crystal clear turquoise waters! Though in many ways, the magic of the county really happens in the Cornish landscape. But if you do fancy a city-trip, for a little retail therapy, or perhaps to see a show, the only one in the county is Truro! High Tea at Charlotte's offers an unmissable experience, in the charming Victorian building on Boscowen Street with Cornish-grown tea! Plus there are two covered markets, one selling eco/organic products, and on Saturday mornings there's a great farmers' market on the piazza where you can find all kinds of local produce.

Getting to Cornwall is being made easier every year, with ever-improving roads and trains running right through to Penzance in the far south-west of the county, and there are three very useful airports nearby in Newquay, Exeter and Bristol, all of which have car hire available on arrival.
