Location & Local Information

When you are tired of being pampered within the resort, there is so much to see on Koh Samui. The island offers an intriguing blend of tourist hotspots, local life and dramatic, stunning scenery. There are sunshine and tropical warmth almost all year round. Visitors love the island for the white-gold sands, waterfalls, walking trails, amazing sunsets and world-class restaurants.

Cheweng is the busiest beach resort and stretches over three miles of glorious sand, the longest beach on the island. With its colourful nightlife and exotic shows from the ladyboys, it comes totally alive.

Lamai is the second largest beach and is quieter than its famed neighbour. It is the perfect place to sit at one of the picturesque beachfront restaurants.

Bo Phut is known as the 'fisherman's village'. It has many lovely restaurants, boutiques and the 'walking street', which is lined with market stalls every Friday night. It is the perfect place to buy little gifts.

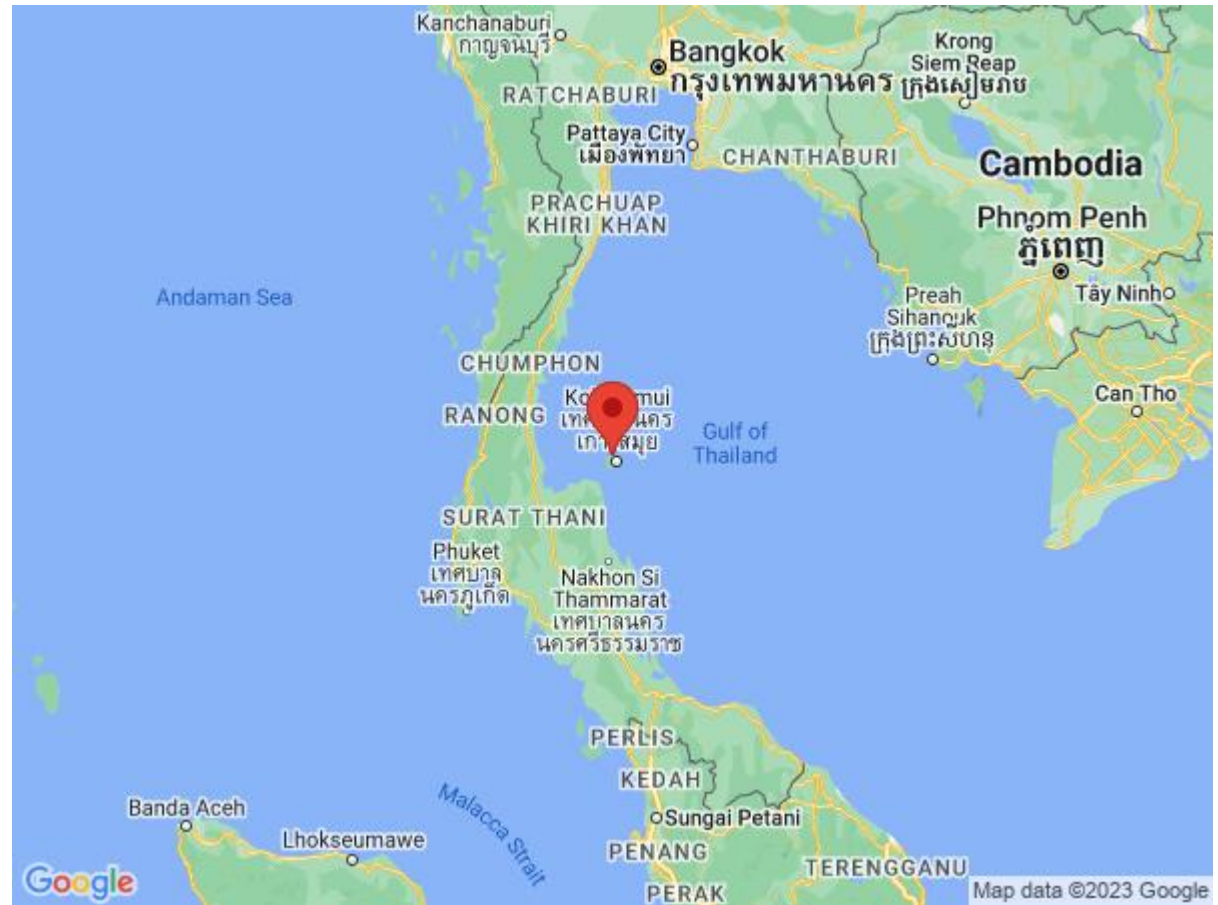

Ang Thong National Park is an extraordinary place to visit with 42 islands. You can take a dip in the azure water, kayak, climb the many steps to an incredible viewpoint, look at the Emerald Lake with its glassy green surface, find hidden coves and see myriad birds, monkeys, dolphins and other wildlife.

Sitting majestically in Mara posture on the small rocky island, Koh Faan, is the famous 12 metre high, Big Buddha Shrine, Samui's most well-known landmark. You reach it over a small causeway. There are many shops and fortune tellers in the area if you are looking for a spot of soul searching. Near the Big Buddha, Wat Plai Laem is a colourful and interesting Buddhist Temple with very ornate décor and art. If you donate money for the upkeep of the temple, you will be given a bag of food to throw into the teeming fish in the lake.

While on holiday you could take a Thai cooking course. Popular cooking schools are SITCA and Pai Cookery Class. You will be able to buy many of the spices and seasoning to take home at the wonderful night markets.
