

Soliman Bay Bungalow 2

Region: Tulum Sleeps: 2 - 4

Overview

This stylish beachfront retreat is the ideal base for exploring the delights of Tulum. Looking out over Soliman Bay, this 2-bedroom property comes with a private balcony and enjoys the use of a shared pool and terrace.

Perfect for up to four guests, Soliman Bay Bungalow 2 has been tastefully decorated in earth tones and neutral shades. Sharing outdoor areas with two other properties, it has the use of sun loungers around the pool, as well as an outdoor seating and dining area. An upper balcony provides a private space just for you to look out onto the beach.

Inside, you'll find an attractive open-plan living space incorporating a dining area and well-equipped kitchen, as well as a comfortable seating area. You'll have everything you need to cook, but if you prefer to take it easy, a private chef can be arranged to prepare your meals. Your beach bungalow has two bedrooms, with a king-size bed on the upper level, where there is direct access to the balcony and a queen-size bed on the floor below. There are two separate shower rooms to use, one on each floor.

Around 20 minutes drive north of Tulum town, Soliman Bay lies on the Yucatán Peninsula. The area combines wonderful beaches with areas of jungle and incredible natural beauty. To the south of Tulum, be sure to experience the stunning Sian Ka'an National Park. The town also offers fascinating Mayan ruins, as well as a host of spa and wellness facilities and excellent dining.

If you're travelling in a larger group, you're in luck here! Soliman Bay Bungalow 2 is located right next to Bungalow 1 and Bungalow 3, making this a perfect option for a groups of families travelling together who want to enjoy this stunning part of Mexico but appreciate a bit of privacy. Location & Local Information

On Mexico's Riviera Maya, Tulum has become one of the country's most popular destinations, thanks to its wonderful beaches and relaxed vibe. A renowned yoga and wellness retreat, Tulum also offers historic gems in the form of its ancient ruins and an excellent and varied dining scene.

One of the top attractions of this region is the abundance of cenotes. These scenic, natural pools are a favourite for swimming and snorkelling and are incredibly photogenic too. You will find several around Tulum, including the large Gran Cenote and the Cenote Car Wash, so named due to its former use.

Tulum also scores highly when it comes to beach life, with an array of well-equipped beach clubs providing an alternative to the popular public beaches such as Las Palmas and Playa Paraiso. Another notable destination is the Kaan Luum Lagoon, which has a cenote in the middle of it. The contrasting colours create a stunning effect best captured by drone photography. It's also a pleasing place for a swim, with warm waters all year round.

Be sure to visit the Sian Ka'an Biosphere Reserve, a UNESCO World Heritage Site just south of Tulum town. A vast site of more than 2,000 square miles, this nature reserve is best explored on a guided tour. It offers the chance to see all sorts of creatures, including crocodiles and dolphins, and makes a great family trip.

Tulum's Mayan ruins are impressive enough to draw many visitors and sit right on the clifftop. There are many other notable ruins around the area which are well worth the journey if archaeology is your thing.

The ancient remains of the city of Coba, including eye-catching pyramids, are within an hour of Tulum, while Chichen-Itza is around two hours away. This is considered the absolute must-see when you visit the Yucatán Peninsula. Chichen-Itza was once its most populous city and the remains include all sorts of ancient structures. The centrepiece is the well-preserved El Castillo Pyramid, which dominates the site. You will also find several more tempting cenotes around this area, and also Coba, to make these trips even more worthwhile.
