

Villa Luksuzan II

Region: Hvar Sleeps: 10

Overview

Nestled near the town of Hvar lies Villa Luksuzan II. A sleek five-bedroom beachfront villa with views overlooking the coastline of the Adriatic Sea. The island of Hvar is the ideal escape. Its rocky coastline, calm waters and terracotta roofs clustered together to make this island one never to forget.

The property's grandeur is apparent from the moment you step into the entrance hall, with a sweeping staircase up to your left and basket-like lampshades that hang from above, along with the villa's internal balcony, which overlooks the reception area. To your right is a large, comfortable lounge area with woven rugs and a variety of plush seating to choose from and your very own cocktail bar! Double patio doors provide an abundance of natural light and access to the outdoor space that sweeps around two sides of the villa. The dining room is fed on from the lounge, which holds a beautifully crafted dining room table that seats ten guests.

You enter a modern kitchen and breakfast bar from the dining room, with appliances that include a microwave, fridge, dishwasher, oven and stove, and many other modern luxuries. (There is the additional option of a professional chef upon request, however, this is subject to availability and early booking.) A rich Mediterranean breakfast is included with the property to ensure you start your days with enough energy for the adventures ahead. Along with the additional cost of groceries, your other meals can be created by the optional in-house chef or you could divulge yourself in one of the many fantastic local restaurants.

The master bedroom is on the ground floor, complete with an en-suite bathroom and walk-in wardrobe. The grandeur of this master bedroom is in the subtle details of the décor; pops of green tie in with the wooden furniture and bubble lighting fixtures. All rooms on the ground floor have access to the beautiful outdoor patio, where the comfortable seating area is arranged so you can plan your next adventures in the sunshine. A dining table and outdoor grill are nearby to enjoy alfresco dining as you watch the sunset over the Croatian coast. The villa's infinity pool and surrounding deck chairs draw you in as you hear the gentle waves of the Adriatic sea beneath you.

As you make your way back into the property and upstairs, we find all four king-sized bed bedrooms filled with cosy corners and detailed finishes. The interior of the bedrooms combines various colour combinations, bringing texture and elegance into the décor of this villa. The soft furnishings create a warm, homely space with luxury details to make you wish your stay could last forever. All rooms are fully air-conditioned and each bedroom has its own balcony with outdoor furniture so you can enjoy the sea view in peace, feeling the sea air on your face and wishing your stay could have lasted longer. Nestled in the Adriatic Sea, the town Hvar is renowned for its tourism, history and nightlife. The Hvar landscape changes with the seasons and offers something very unique. Blossoming lavender fields bloom during June and July, along with ancient olive trees that date back over a thousand years and get harvested at the end of October. The significant architecture inhabiting the island dates back over a thousand years. The Cathedral of St. Stephen is intriguing due to its divided construction stages between the fourteenth to the seventeenth century, giving the building a range of styles. Step outside and explore the iconic Hvar town waterfront, where historic docks meet some very modern yachts. You can take to the seas yourself, with a variety of boat hires and renting options available from the villa or in town. Underneath the terracotta rooftops lie characterful cafés and beach bars and restaurants filled with locally sourced cuisine, perfected over the years and constantly changing in line with the seasons. Vineyards are scattered across this island, allowing guests to enjoy learning about the different variations of wine and how they have come about Pokonji beach is a mere 1.5km away from Hvar's city centre and is a beautiful place to detox from your stresses. There are two restaurants to quench your thirst and also have the option to rent sunbeds, umbrellas or even have a sea adventure with kayaks or paddle boats.
