

Villa Garballo

Region: Pollensa Sleeps: 6

Overview

A rustic and bohemian villa located in the exhilarating region of Pollensa, Villa Garballo transports guests into an idyllic and traditional home. The outdoor areas within the property are nothing short of wonderful, placing an expansive swimming pool in the centre of the grounds. The pool is perfect for cooling off after a long day in the soothing sun. Opposite the pool is a large garden area, equipped with large spans of expertly manicured grass. Villa Garballo is also home to a magnificent outdoor barbecue area. This is surrounded by quaint outdoor seating arrangements so that guests can enjoy impeccable food as they gaze out towards the awe-inspiring mountains that sit close by.

All of the rooms and amenities within Villa Garballo are separated on one floor, giving guests a large amount of space to use as they please. As you enter the property, you will be greeted by the comforting lounge area. This space includes a pair of patterned sofas and a wooden coffee table in the centre of the room. The living area within the property draws upon an array of minimalist design features, ensuring that guests can truly relax during their time here. Moving on to the dining area, here you will see the broad dining table with a collection of matching chairs. This space amplifies the collectivism seen within Spanish dining and gives guests a unique space to truly connect with one another. The kitchen within Villa Garballo includes a lot of natural light sources, which help to contrast the dark wooden cupboards seen in this space. In turn, you can create an assortment of incredible dishes whilst looking out at incredible views.

There are a total of three bedrooms within this property, making it suitable for up to six guests. The first two bedrooms both include a pair of single beds. This makes them perfect for children or for guests who would rather sleep separately. Each room comes with an ornate wooden desk to help add a touch of opulence to the area. The third bedroom contains a spacious double bed as well as a grandiose wardrobe. Thus, guests have enough storage space to store their belongings with ease.

Location & Local Information

Villa Garballo is just 3.5km from the town centre of Pollensa, giving guests access to a wide range of activities as well as a sense of closure from the hustle and bustle. Pollensa is well-known for its wide range of tourist attractions, such as the Pollensa Museum. Located in the centre of the main plaza, this museum encapsulates a wide variety of art pieces that help to tell a fascinating story about the region's history. The museum was built between 1588 and 1616, collating a range of Gothic altarpieces and other acclaimed paintings. These pieces were commended during the Summer Exhibition of Painting, a prestigious award ceremony that took place in the 1960s. The Pollensa Museum is free to enter and is open every weekday.

Mallorca boasts of the bustling independent wine industry, with a plethora of wineries scattered all around the island. If you are visiting Pollensa in April, then you have the chance to explore the diverse Wine Trade Fair. This joyous event is held in the Cluster del Convent de Santo Domingo, which is just outside the main square of Pollensa. Guests are invited to sample a selection of locally-produced wines and learn more about how the incredible craft has transformed multiple regions around Mallorca. During this event, you will receive an informational booklet that will guide you through the wide array of stalls. A small fee is required for entry, and the festival is usually open from Friday through Sunday.

The Joan March Gardens can be found around 45-minutes away from the centre of Pollensa, giving guests the opportunity to explore some of Mallorca's most impeccable landscapes. These gardens were named after the March family, who were responsible for some of Pollensa's most successful business ventures. First founded in the 1980s, The Joan March Gardens contain a wealth of expansive trees as well as rare vegetation. As such, this is a landmark that combines the natural beauty and history of this region. There is also a grand statue of March himself for guests to learn more about. This park is open throughout the day, giving guests enough time to explore the grounds in great detail.
