

Casa Canelas

Region: Galicia Sleeps: 10

Overview

This smart, four-bedroom, three-bathroom attic apartment is perfectly positioned in front of the picturesque Canelas beach in the Spanish town of Portonovo.

As soon as you enter, you'll be enveloped by bright interiors which marry vintage flourishes with modern decor. Two designer-influenced double bedrooms, a bathroom, and a comfortable living room adjoin the stylish entrance hallway, and the living room leads to a small terrace with superb views of Canelas beach.

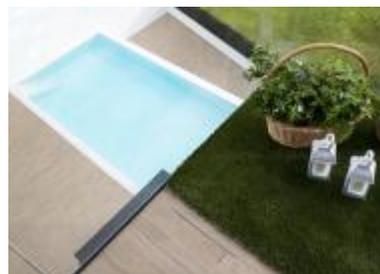

Making your way up the stairs up to the first floor, you'll be greeted by Spanish homeliness. Plush furnishings combine with low ceilings and soft lighting to create exactly the kind of relaxed ambience you come on holiday for. This level boasts a living and dining area, a bathroom, an en-suite bedroom, and a fully-equipped, beautifully tiled kitchen. All four bedrooms are beautifully designed in bright and bold colours and fixtures; two are en-suite and there's also a sofa bed which sleeps two people. A cradle is also available for the smaller members of the party.

To really ramp up the holiday atmosphere, head outside onto the large terrace, boasting spectacular sea views, a gorgeous arbour complete with stylish dining table and chairs, and a chill-out area with a bed. This is the perfect place to while away the warm evenings and relax with a glass of wine. In the daytime, guests love to spend hours here either reading or topping up their tan; with views this good, we know why some people barely leave the terrace!

On the ground floor of the building is the large communal pool, just waiting to be enjoyed. Take a dip in between tanning sessions to cool off during those hot Mediterranean afternoons and enjoy the sights and sounds of Portonovo town.

Location & Local Information

The apartment is located in Portonovo, a charming fishing village in the Galician region of Spain, which thrives with visitors during the summer months. Coves, bays, and inlets dot the coastline of this region, allowing Galicia to boast the most extensive coastline in Spain!

Portonovo is connected to the neighbouring town of Sanxenxo - famous for its restaurants, beaches and bars - by a delightful promenade. Visitors can join locals in a leisurely stroll from one town to the other, an event in itself, thanks to the stunning landscape. The path has spectacular views at every turn and visitors are rewarded with a cool sea breeze as they make their way through the green forest with views of the blue water.

Further along the coastline is Rías Baixas (or 'lower estuary'), which holds a number of estuaries and inlets, including Aldán, Arousa, Pontevedra and Vigo. The area is known by locals as the 'Galician Caribbean', and for good reason! Between them, they hold more than 20 coves of fine white sand beaches, many of which are deserted and only accessible by boat. The estuaries are known for their calm waters and blue seas, making them the perfect spot for relaxing on the beach and exploring the hidden coves. The Aldán inlet is also perfect for hiking. Take a walk to Cabo Udra, a 13-kilometre circular route in a protected natural area where bottlenose dolphins and porpoises are quite frequently seen in the waters.

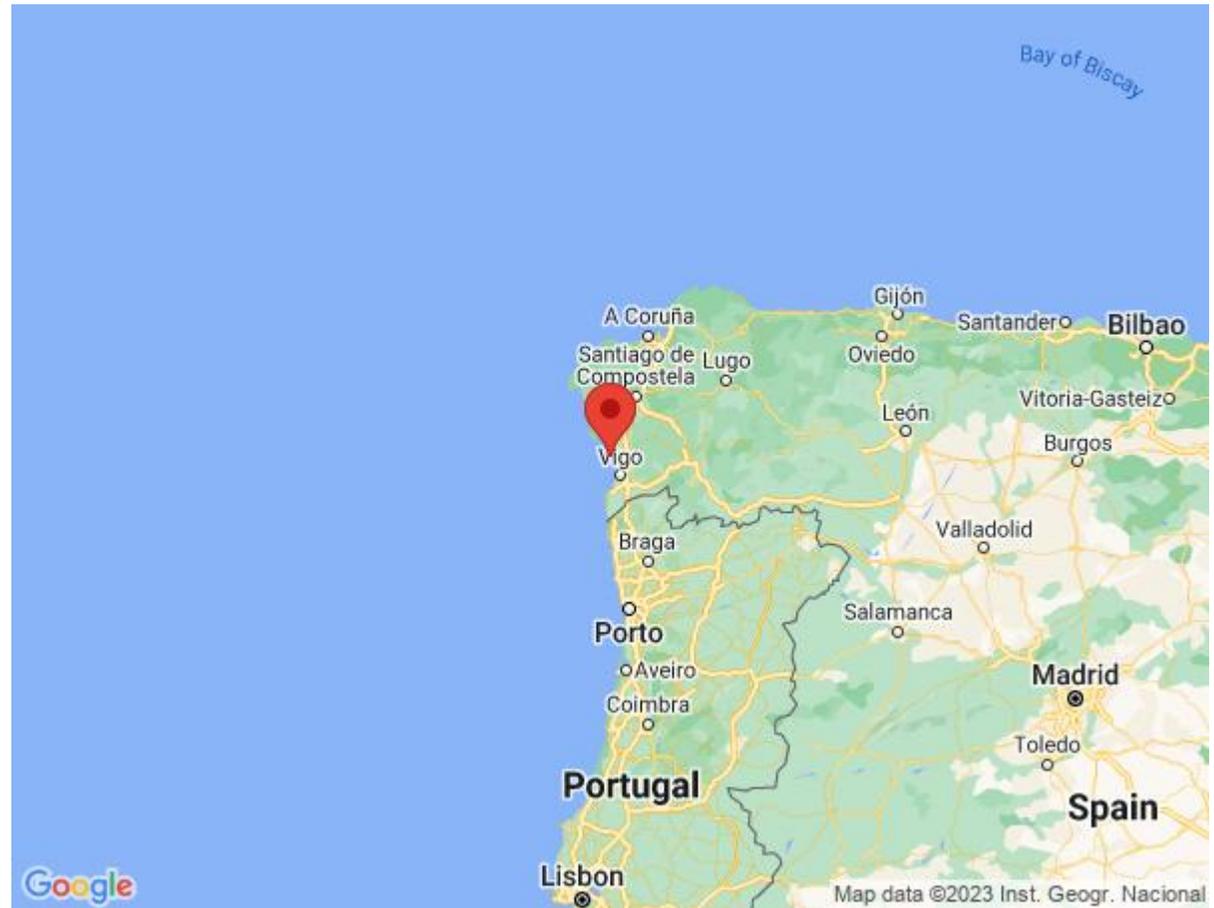

The region of Galicia is famous for its history, seafood, and wild beaches. It's particularly well known for its shellfish pulled straight from the sea: think king prawns, king scallops, mussels, crabs and lobsters straight into signature Galician dishes like the Pulpo a la Feira (Octopus cooked with potatoes and seasoned with paprika), Arroz con Marisco (Galician paella) and Mariscada (Seafood platter). Wine is also a staple of the cuisine here and Rías Baixas boasts beautiful wineries which produce some of the world's finest wines. Romanesque churches and chapels dot the same landscapes of the traditional wineries and the region perfectly combines gastronomy and culture amongst the historical sights of Galician monasticism.

A thirty-minute drive away is Pontevedra which prides itself on tradition and hospitality. The city has plenty of historic buildings, churches, monuments, attractive plazas, and a large shopping district. The old town begins to really thrive at night, with lively bars creating a vibrant atmosphere that continues well into the early hours.

What we love

- Canelas Beach is only a five-minute walk away
- We absolutely love the promenade walk to the nearby town of Sanxenxo, which is famous for its restaurants, beaches and bars
- The bright and bold colours of the apartment marry with soft lighting to create a space that feels like a home away from home
- The surrounding area is known by locals as the 'Galician Caribbean', boasting more than 20 coves of fine white sand beaches with crystal clear waters

What you should know...

- The outdoor communal pool has space to lounge and tan, but guests wanting total privacy will be best sticking to the rooftop terrace
- The apartment comfortably sleeps ten people though the relatively small floor area means the apartment can soon become quite cosy!
- The pool is unfenced and while younger kiddies love to make a splash in there, they should stay supervised
