Location & Local Information

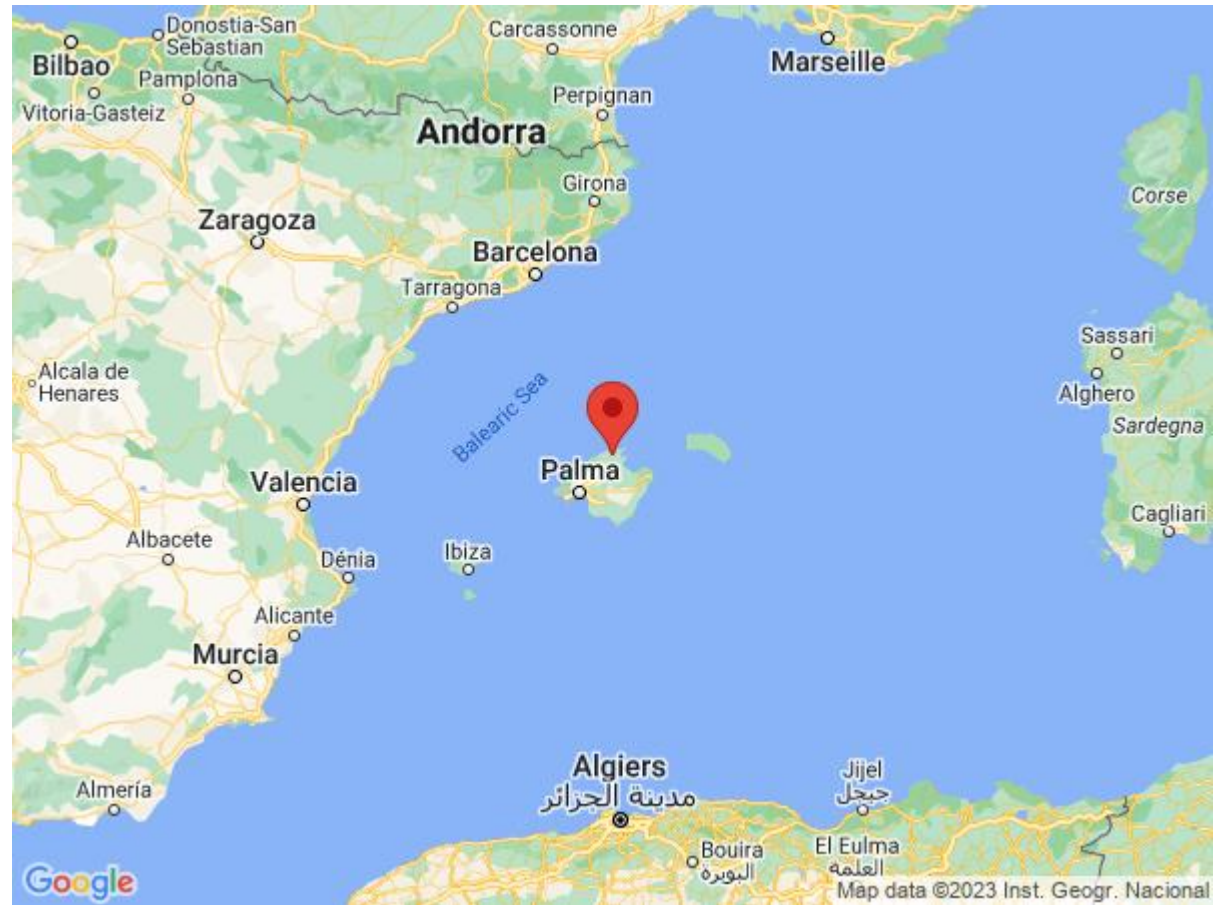

Puerto Horta can be found in Pollensa, a remarkable area that is known for its varied selection of tourist attractions. The Pollensa Museum is just over 5-minutes away from the town centre and welcomes a diverse assortment of historical art pieces dating back to the 16th century. Although this museum showcases a wealth of Gothic altarpieces, it wasn't officially founded until the mid-1970s. During this time, the Pollensa Museum received praise at many different festivals, including the Summer Exhibition of Painting in the 1960s. Nowadays, guests can observe authentic Buddhist mandalas and pieces from Atilio Boveri. The Pollensa Museum is open every weekday between 10 am and 2 pm and is free to enter.

If you are looking to delve deeper into the intricacies of this region's culture, the Pollensa Market is an ideal place to visit. This impeccable market sits in the main square of the town centre, making it very easy to visit for guests staying in Puerto Mar. With over 300 stalls to discover, guests can purchase clothes, bags, and craft arts from a variety of native vendors, adding to the authenticity of the market. There is even a section dedicated to fresh produce, allowing guests the chance to indulge in a selection of indulgent fruits and vegetables. The Pollensa Market occurs every Sunday from 8 am till 1:30 pm.

Formentor Lighthouse is located just under an hour away from the centre of Pollensa and gives guests the chance to dive deeper into the local history as well as observe some incredible sights. This lighthouse was first built in 1863 and is used to guide small fishing boats to safety as they emerge towards the Mallorcan shores. The vibrant light helps to illuminate the jagged and rocky landscape at the base of the lighthouse, protecting fishermen and sailors from many potential dangers. In addition, this lighthouse has been the muse of many creative icons, such as Carlos Fuentes and Gerardo Diego. Guests can drive up to the 210m peak and take in the astonishing panoramic views that encircle the lighthouse, giving them an unobscured view of all that Pollensa has to offer.
