Palma also boasts a deeply significant religious history, with the incredible La Seu Cathedral being based just a short walk away from the centre of the region. This monument was constructed during the region of Jaime II, highlighting a vast assortment of Gothic and Roman Catholic motifs. The cathedral also has a nave that reaches an astonishing 44 metres. This makes it the second highest nave of all Gothic cathedrals, after the Beauvais Cathedral in France. Palma is also known for its alluring selection of museums, with Es Baluard Museum of Modern & Contemporary Art is considered a fan favourite. When the museum first opened in 2004, it attracted 55,000 visitors in just one month, further emphasising its striking collection of pieces and their significance within the local art scene. Guests are free to meander through the many exhibitions on offer and observe timeless pieces from iconic 20th-century artists such as Joan Miro, Miquel Barcelo, and Pablo Picasso. Es Baluard Museum of Modern & Contemporary Art can be found just under 10-minutes away and welcomes guests Tuesday-Sunday from 10 am till 8 pm.
