Location & Local Information

Fuerteventura is an immensely bustling region, giving guests the prime opportunity to explore everything it has to offer. One of the most popular attractions in this region is Corralejo Natural Park, which can be found just half an hour away. This landmark is teeming with looming sand dunes, giving guests a truly unique terrain to explore at their own pace. Guests are encouraged to take their time here, exploring all of the nuances that this park offers. In addition, guests can even book a thrilling dune buggy tour. During this experience, guests will be paired with a state-of-the-art dune buggy, which will guide them through the landscape with ease. As a result, guests can observe the wonders of this atmosphere from an entirely new perspective.

If you are looking to experience a truly whimsical attraction, a trip to Fuerteventura Windmills is the ideal way to do so. These tremendous windmills are a staple piece of the region and are decorated in a variety of different ways. These windmills are scattered around the region, particularly in the quaint area of La Olivia, which is just under 45 minutes away from the centre of Fuerteventura. This windmill presents an unconventional patterned exterior, making it a very picturesque landmark that should not be missed during your time here. Guests can also enter inside the windmill and marvel at its archaic inner workings.

The Morro Velosa Statues are an incredibly moving piece of architecture and are based just over 20 minutes away from the centre of the region. These pieces were crafted by the acclaimed Emiliano Hernandez and depict two ancient kings known as Ayose and Guise. They stand an astonishing 4 metres tall and are best known for holding looming staffs. This landmark is also accompanied by a wealth of informative panels, ensuring that guests can gain a deeper understanding of their cultural significance. Thus, this is a fantastic landmark to visit if you wish to learn more about the far-reaching legacy of this entire region. Many previous guests have also noted that this is a great location for stargazing, adding another layer of magic to your holiday experience.
