From the cottage you can follow the Wales Coastal Path to the west, discovering Porthoer (Whistling Sands), a National Trust beach where the sand does actually whistle when the conditions are right. Two miles further along the coast, you will find the beautiful seaside village of Aberdaron, on the western tip of the Llyn Peninsula, well worth visiting during your stay. Aberdaron has all the amenities you could need to make your stay comfortable, with two pubs/restaurants, two cafes, a bakery, tea room, ice cream shop, fish and chip shop and a small Spar supermarket.

A little further afield, yet still easily reached within a short drive are Abersoch and Pwllheli, both beautiful seaside towns that are perfect for romantic meals, walks and beach days! Renowned for their blue flag beaches and water sports, these pretty shores are popular among families and couples alike.

The charms and quirks of the Llyn Peninsula are impossible to resist. This remarkable part of the world is renowned for its beaches and the Welsh language and way of life that still flourishes here. The remarkable mountains of Snowdonia are within a short drive as well, perfect for any budding hikers or to take the train ride up the mountain for those less able to walk.

With so much to do in the area, the only trouble is fitting it all in! There are numerous activities in the area including fishing, horse-riding, golf and Glasfryn Parc where you can enjoy go-karting, ten-pin bowling, archery and much more!
