Location & Local Information

Historic Omiš is the place to be for an action-packed stay in Dalmatia. High-energy activities draw many visitors to Omiš, either on or above the River Cetina. Try canyoning, rafting, canoeing and the like, or take an unforgettable zip-line ride across the canyon itself. As well as its stunning fortresses and pirate history (made fun for families), Omiš offers beautiful beaches.

You need not go far if it's those beaches you're after! The long, sandy Velika Plaza is centrally located, while the pebble beaches of Brzet and Slavinj are a short walk from town. Head west towards Split or east towards Makarska, and there are plenty more beaches to choose from, many of them Blue Flag rated. Alternatively, set sail to the islands of Brač, Hvar and Šolta for many more.

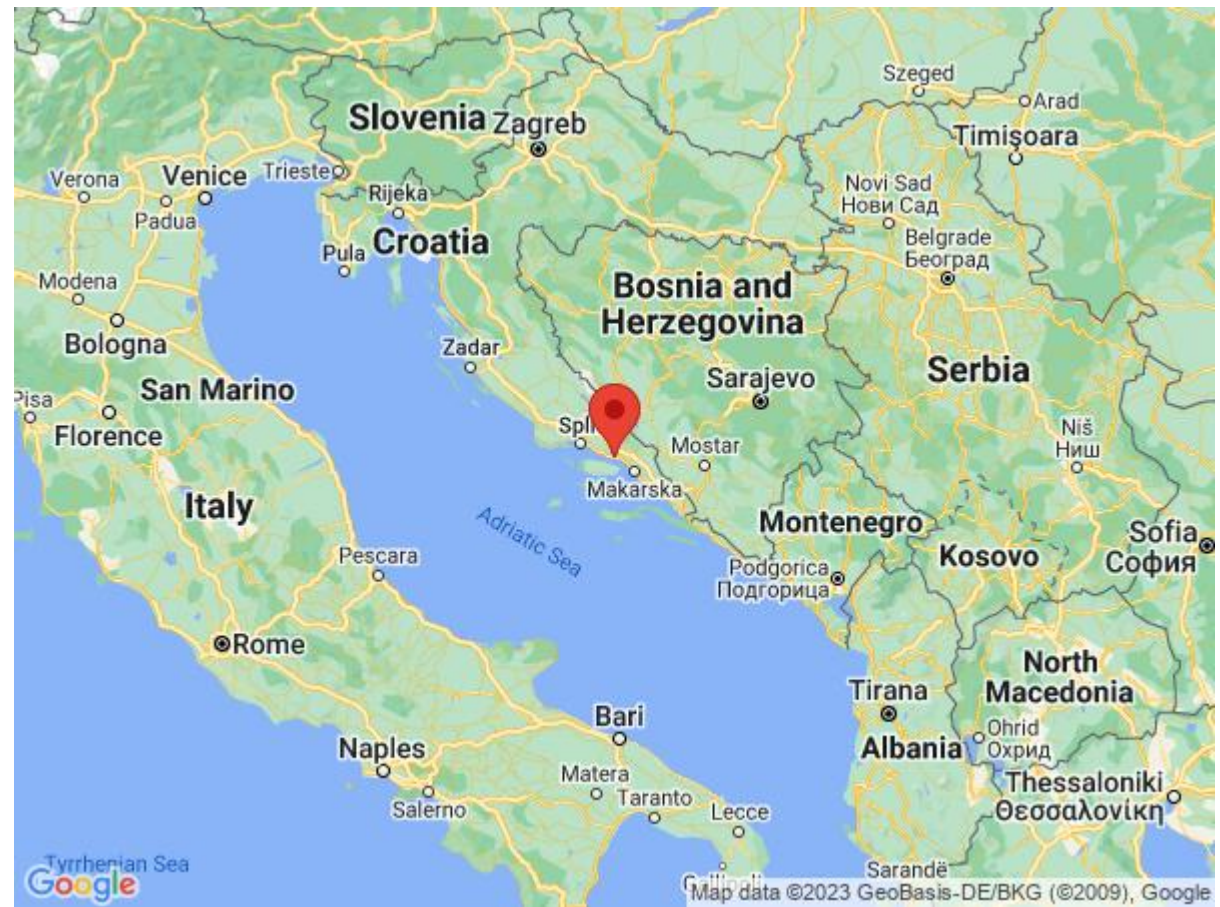

Omiš's 13th-century Mirabella fortress is well worth heading up to, with stunning views as far as Brač, and those from 15th-century Starigrad are just as good. Drive further out into the mountains, and the Biokovo Skywalk will provide an unforgettable experience – about an hour's drive from Medjugorje, this glass-bottomed viewing platform is a major attraction in the mountains. Another local vantage point of note is the site of the Mila Gojsalić statue, located high in the hills around 5km from Omiš.

Omiš makes an excellent base for visiting many other destinations and is full of chilled restaurant terraces and bars. To the west, Split offers world-class landmarks like the vast Diocletian's Palace and the Cathedral of St Domnius, while Makarska, a similar distance east, is the jewel of Makarska Riviera.

Only Dubrovnik can rival Split as a Croatian culture hub – among its big hitters are the Croatian National Theatre, the Split Gallery of Fine Arts and the Meštrović Gallery. It boasts countless family-friendly attractions, excellent shopping and the glamorous Riva waterfront, Žnjan Beach and Marjan Forest Park when you need a moment to recharge. If Split is busier than you would like, you could always try Trogir – a destination that's just as beautiful but generally quieter. Further west, it's closer to Split Airport than the city itself and home to the towering St Lawrence Cathedral.
