Location & Local Information

Can Siller is just 10 minutes away from the transformative region of Pollensa, ensuring that guests can explore a wealth of tourist hotspots without drifting too far away from their holiday home. If you consider yourself to be an avid fan of European history, a trip to Placa de l'Almonia is a must-do activity. This small square contains a house that was once used to care for some of Pollensa's most vulnerable citizens during the difficult times of the 14th century. Thus, this landmark is regarded as a key part of the region's impeccable legacy. It was also seen as a battleground on the 30th of May 1550 when violent ambushers led an attack on the native citizens. This conflict is still remembered to this day with the contemporary citizens holding a moving service every August. Placa de l'Almonia is based just under 10 minutes away from the villa.

Puig de Maria is based on top of a tremendous 330-metre summit and presents one of the region's most iconic religious landmarks. Guests are encouraged to embark on a light 30-minute hike until they reach the archaic 14th-century monastery that is located here. This building was originally crafted as a devoted shrine to the Virgin Mary and contained a wealth of impressive religious fixtures and artefacts. Thus, this is a great attraction to visit if you wish to learn more about how this small building altered the lives of many citizens. Puig de Maria is situated just over 5 minutes away from Can Siller.

For those looking to rekindle their sense of adventure, a trip to Alzinaret Caves is a real treat. These caves were first discovered in 1927 and host a varied selection of artefacts that are said to date back to the Middle Bronze Age. Thus, guests must examine each fixture in intense detail as a way to deepen their understanding of this region's long-forgotten history. If you do not feel comfortable travelling inside these caves, there are a collection of benches found outside of the structures. Therefore, guests are free to watch the world go by and revel in the most fundamental aspects of nature. Alzinaret Caves are located just over 5 minutes away from the villa.
