Resort facilities are reserved for the exclusive use of South Point guests, making this an idyllic sanctuary in the midst of Antigua's lively English Harbour. If you wish to travel slightly further afield, an island paradise lies waiting to be discovered!

Famed as the sailing capital of the Caribbean, English Harbour and Falmouth Harbour are home to picturesque marinas where you can watch superb yachts come and go whilst soaking up the vibrant atmosphere and nightlife that Antigua's southern coastline has to offer. Sailing enthusiasts and experts will be enchanted by the marina at South Point. For those who wish to experience the magic for themselves, there are plenty of sailing excursions, boat tours and other exciting water-based activities available. Visitors can arrange to charter a private boat or take a guided trip around the island's spectacular reefs and secluded coves. Sea kayaking and kitesurfing are two popular watersports in Antigua, with experiences widely available along the coastline.

At just 281 km², the island boasts 365 beaches, one for every day of the year. Here, you will always be spoiled for choice when it comes to your next dip in the ocean! Only a ten-minute walk away, Pigeon Point Beach is a good place to start, with a sheltered cove and tropical trees offering seclusion and shade. The stunning Galleon Beach can be reached within five minutes by car, boasting spectacular views of the Pillars of Hercules, as well as turtle sightings and deep blue waters. The location of the pristine Rendezvous Bay Beach is more isolated but worth the challenge. To reach the beach at Rendezvous Bay, you can follow a path from the rainforest on foot for an hour and a half, before plunging into the crystal-clear waters of the Caribbean Sea.

From South Point, walk for fifteen minutes and you will come to the magnificent Nelson's Dockyard National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage site featuring an eighteenth-century British naval dockyard. As well as being a site of great historical and cultural significance on the island, this is also a popular venue for maritime events. Nelson's Dockyard offers adventure-seekers plenty of activities on dry land, including several fantastic trekking trails. Consider hiking to Shirley Heights, a restored military lookout with panoramic views, which happens to be one of the island's most popular destinations. Shirley Heights is well known for its famous Sunday afternoon party, where visitors are welcome to take part in the festivities. Listen to live Caribbean steel drum bands, try some of the local food and rum punch and take in the out-of-this-world panoramic views as the sun begins to set on Antigua.
