

Villa Suttana

Region: Southern Corsica Sleeps: 10

Overview

Close to Porto Vecchio's idyllic Plage de Santa Giulia, this high-end abode sleeps 10 guests in contemporary style, set in a glorious garden with a heated swimming pool.

The features of this modern holiday home seem endless – when not relaxing in the open-plan living room or cooking up a feast in the elegant kitchen, no doubt served on the covered outdoor dining terrace, then you could be watching a movie in the cinema lounge or accompanying youngsters in the games and reading room. Then there's the brilliant gym, not to mention ping-pong and even swings on the picturesque lawn for the youngest of guests.

The grounds seem vast, so wonderfully landscaped with olive trees, oaks and summer colour alongside stonework to add to the authentic outdoor Corsican ambience. This contrasts perfectly with the modern décor inside air-conditioned Villa Suttana with its five spacious bedrooms, each one with an en suite bath or shower room.

The location is appealing as well, in an attractive residential area with easy access to Porto Vecchio to the north and Bonifacio to the south. Even closer is the gorgeous bay at Plage de Santa Giulia, 3.5km by car, with its beachside restaurants, watersports, soft sand and crystal-clear water. Plage de Palombaggia is just a further, as is the pine-backed Plage de Tamaricciu, two of Corsica's most iconic beaches.

Dine out in the evening in Porto Vecchio, just 6km away, or drive to the exquisite citadel of Bonifacio, just under half an hour away, perhaps combined with a boat tour of the southern Corsica coastline. Hiking through the Forêt de l'Ospédale, sampling wines near Sartène or even venturing towards the Col de Bavella are yet more wonderful ways to appreciate the incredible scenery of this beautiful island.

Location & Local Information

In southern Corsica, Villa Suttana is conveniently situated in an attractive residential setting with easy access to the road that connects Porto Vecchio to the north and Bonifacio to the south, and only 3.5km from the beautiful Plage de Santa Giulia.

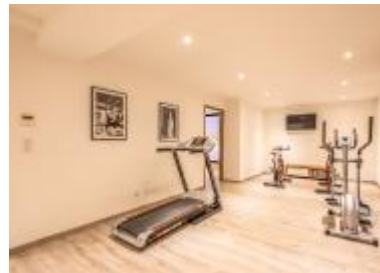

Santa Giulia Beach is one of southern Corsica's most idyllic bays and it's much loved by visitors from across the region. With gently-shelving shallow water and soft sand, it's a paradise for all ages and there is a small handful of beachside seasonal restaurants as well as water-skiing and other summer watersports.

Continue onwards towards the wonderful Plage de Tamaricciu (6km) and Corsica's iconic Plage de Palombaggia (7km), both long stretches of sandy shores with turquoise coloured water, backed by umbrella pines, again offering beautiful beachside restaurants and bars as well as seasonal watersports. To the south, Plage de Rondinara (16km) is another gorgeous bay or drive towards Figari and beyond, stopping off at gems such as Plage de la Tonnara (28km) and Roccapina (40km).

Porto Vecchio (6km) is within easy reach, a glamorous town with an atmospheric old quarter filled with café terraces, restaurants and shops, alongside the marina below. Look out for boat tours whisking you away to the remote Lavezzi Islands – pack a picnic, water and plenty of shade!

Bonifacio (24km) is a must-visit during your time in southern Corsica thanks to its exquisite citadel perched above the limestone cliffs and the town's famous, steep stairs leading all the way down to the sea. Enjoy a lunch out in one of the citadel's traditional Corsican restaurants before hopping on a boat excursion of this mesmerising part of the coastline. The coast around here is also a paradise for walkers, horse-riding enthusiasts as well as watersport lovers.

To explore other parts of the island, drive to Sartène (63km) to soak up its Corsican authenticity with its rich heritage, steep lanes and stunning surroundings or, closer to home, venture into the Forêt de l'Ospédale for hiking trails and more spectacular scenery. The rugged landscapes of the Col de Bavella are another highlight of southern Corsica, ideal for keen walkers and outdoor adventurers.
