Location & Local Information

The bustling seaside town of Newquay has something for everyone and even benefits from its own airport, under thirty minutes from the centre of town. The house is just a ten-minute stroll to the world-famous Fistral beach, where crystal clear waves await your enjoyment from swimming, paddleboarding, water-skiing and boat rides.

As Britain's premier surfing spot, Fistral Beach plays host to the Boardmasters International Surf Competition each year; whilst out of the water, Fistral and nearby Watergate Bay are the places to be for the annual five-day music festival, Boardmasters.

A gateway to Cornwall's wild beauty, there are many local beaches and beauty spots. Crantoch Beach is a must-see with its epic sand dunes, perfect for exploring; if you venture onto the footpaths to Polly Joke Beach, you might even spot some local seals sunning themselves on the secluded shore. Watergate Bay offers two miles of golden sand and a more peaceful environment, whilst a short drive will take you to the perfect rock-pooling spot at Porth Beach. Make sure you head out on the narrow footbridge to Porth Island for stunning views of the Cornish coastline. Or take a visit to nearby National-Trust-owned Trecire, a charming Elizabethan manor with picture-perfect gardens perched just outside of Newquay.

If you're looking for a day trip, the charming coastal town of Padstow is just a thirty-minute drive away. Try your hand at crabbing in the harbour, grab yourself a local pasty for lunch or take a boat trip over to nearby Rock. The Eden Project in St. Austell is only a forty-minute drive, a perfect spot for families where you can walk amongst the dramatic tropical biomes and experience the sights and smells of the rainforest. Or take a day trip to St. Ives, the Cornish home of the Tate Gallery, to check out exhibits of both famous and local artists.

Newquay has plenty to offer if you're looking for a night out. Just a short walk from your doorstep, you'll find Moules and Co, grab a table or get yourself a takeaway of mouth-watering moules, the best in town! Why not move the party on to local cocktail bar Tom Thumb where expert mixologists serve house-blended vermouths and syrups? If you want to sample some local seafood, why not order your own freshly caught and cooked lobster or crab from the Fernpit Café fresh from the water straight to your plate?
