Location & Local Information

Nestled amongst the snowy rooftops of Courchevel Village, Apartment Hellebore enjoys a prime position, moments from local restaurants and shops, whilst being less than 50m from the Grangettes Gondola, which will transport you to the central lifts to explore the resort's impressive piste map.

Situated in the Rhône-Alpes région, Courchevel offers the ultimate ski resort, made up of five individual villages set at varying elevations and forming part of the popular Trois Vallées. Most north-facing slopes ensure reliable snow cover, whilst an efficient lift network and daily grooming ensure a quality experience. Seasoned skiers should head up to La Saulire, where the Grand Couloir boasts one of the steepest runs in the Alps, or head off-piste to Les Creux Noirs and navigate the challenging east-facing slope. Long blues such as Creux and Foylères are local favourites, whilst those just starting should visit La Tania to find a handful of beginner zones and nursery areas perfect for building confidence. Quality restaurants dot the mountainside, inviting you to stop for a tasty lunchtime snack, and you can sit out on one of the sunny terraces to enjoy views across the snowy peaks. Located next to the altiport, Le Pilatus boasts plenty of charm adorned in typical Savoyard decor, whilst Le Bel Air is a great place for classic French cuisine. Many of the slopes congregate at La Croisette, a central social hub offering an animated nightlife, and with the gondola running until past midnight, guests can spend a fun evening enjoying the live music before heading back down the valley.

Courchevel has plenty to offer away from the slopes, and non-skiers can purchase a pedestrian pass to explore the vast network of alpine trails. Grab a map and pair of 'raquettes' and walk through the wooded pines, or enjoy a gentle sledge ride pulled by a pack of friendly huskies. Several operators offer paragliding year-round, whilst the Luge track at Moriond runs for an impressive 3km and is perfect for those after an adrenaline rush.

Since being built, the resort has welcomed some of the world's most exclusive hotels, many of which welcome non-guests to enjoy their luxury spa facilities or head along the Aquamotion, where you can visit their wellness centre, relax in a snow-lined jacuzzi or indulge in the sauna.
