

La Maison Des Harmonies

Region: Midi-Pyrenees Sleeps: 8

Overview

The owners of this wonderfully converted farmhouse in Gascony have opened their doors to allow discerning holiday makers to exclusively experience the character and beauty of their home and swimming pool, located within a glorious estate with views of the undulating Gers countryside.

Just a short cycle ride or drive to Marciac, home of the famous summer jazz festival, Maison des Harmonies combines historic charm with contemporary design. Once a farmhouse in the 1700s, a 21st century sculptor brought the building back to life taking great care to preserve its heritage whilst adding architecturally unique features such as the modern staircase and mezzanine level. The home's current owners took over the project just a few years ago, landscaping the glorious grounds to create an idyllic retreat steeped in history.

Enter the farmhouse through the impressive entrance hall which leads straight through to an elegant dining area and cosy lounge with French windows opening out to the covered terrace. A high-ceilinged classic yet modern kitchen also awaits with a stylish kitchen island and Wi-Fi controlled pellet burner to create an ambience of warmth, alongside an adjoining TV lounge. Upstairs, beneath the eaves, find four delightful bedrooms, each one named after famous singers, alongside three en suite shower rooms and a family bathroom. We especially love the master bedroom with its king-size double and large window allowing light to flood in to the room.

For more than 8 guests, the adjoining 2-bedroom Villa Harmonie is also available to rent as an add-on to this four-bedroom farmhouse, allowing the estate to sleep up to 15 across both abodes. Rest assured that when La Maison des Harmonies is booked alone, the villa will not be rented out separately (although there is a small possibility that the hospitable yet very discreet owners may be present).

Sit beneath the covered terrace for al-fresco meals with family and friends or take a stroll across to the gorgeous swimming pool and its raised dining terrace with the most idyllic vistas towards the gentle hills of Gascony, a region known as the 'Tuscany of France'. Find a pretty spot for a glass of Armagnac or wine from nearby vineyards (Saint Mont and Madiran are half an hour away) and take a walk around the large natural pond within the one-hectare estate.

It's just 5km to reach the charming town of Marciac – why not make the most of the estate's two electric bikes to grab croissants and fresh bread in the morning. As well as its huge main square, weekly market, atmospheric cafes and welcoming restaurants, Marciac is renowned for the 'Jazz in Marciac' festival that takes place over three weeks from late July and attracts big-name artists and visitors from across the world.

Meanwhile, enjoy long walks, cycling and horse-riding through the Gers countryside, visit some of the region's historic market towns and picture-perfect villages, or venture south to Tarbes and Lourdes in the Hautes-Pyrénées in the true heart of southern France.

Location & Local Information

La Maison des Harmonies is set within a one-hectare estate with the most beautiful views of the Gers countryside in a region also known as the Tuscany of France. Just 5km away is the charming town of Marciac, famous for its annual jazz festival that attracts musicians from across the world.

You can make the most of La Maison des Harmonies' two electric bikes and cycle to Marciac or it's just a 5-minute drive to reach its historic centre. The fortified town dates back to the 13th century and is home to cafes, restaurants, a pharmacy and a good-sized supermarket as well as a vibrant market on a Wednesday morning. The famous jazz festival usually takes place from late July to mid-August – the festival is over forty years old and the town has welcomed big names in the past such as Ray Charles and Dizzy Gillespie. Lac de Marciac (7km) lies just to the north with its nature walks, carp fishing and summer pedalo hire.

The much-loved Golf du Château Pallanne is only 13km away whilst wine-lovers note that the vineyards of Saint Mont and Madiran can be reached within half an hour to forty minutes. There are various walking and hiking routes, cycling trails and horse-riding opportunities to discover, all wonderful ways to truly appreciate the undulating scenery of Gascony and beyond. Heading south, the most adventurous guests can easily reach the foothills of the Pyrenees.

Driving into the Hautes-Pyrénées, admire stunning views towards the mountains when visiting Tarbes (35km) on the Adour River, home to the especially impressive Jardin Massey, a 19th century landscaped park, and the Cathédrale Notre Dame de la Sède. Horse enthusiasts should head to the French National Monument, Haras National de Tarbes, whilst the covered market will delight gastronomes on a Thursday morning.

The fascinating network of caves can be found at Grottes de Bétharram (70km), just over an hour away, perhaps combined with a trip to Lourdes (58km) which welcomes millions of visitors every year.

Back in the Gers, Auch (52km) is the historic capital of Gascony and a 'City of Art and History', also the gateway to other gems of this region such as the historic market towns of Fleurance, Lectoure and Condom. If you can find the time, venture to the trio of Gers villages, Larressingle, Montréal and Fourcès, all classified as three of France's 'Plus Beaux Villages' and reached in just over an hour by car.

What we love

- Having been sensitively restored, this 18th century farmhouse exudes authentic character alongside high-end design and comfort
- We love the beautiful Gascony views from the swimming pool and landscaped grounds – take time to walk around the estate gazing out towards the Pyrenees
- Marciac is famous for its summer jazz festival which attracts musicians from across the world
- A great base for exploring the undulating landscapes of the Gers and the foothills of the Pyrenees – you could even venture to the Atlantic coast and Spain for an amazing day out!

What you should know...

- It's a gorgeous house for families – a cot, highchair, stairgate and children's books/toys can be provided on request. Please do supervise young children on the upstairs landing/mezzanine and also outside across the grounds, especially by the natural pond, swimming pool and poolside raised terrace.
- For further guests, the adjoining 2-bedroom Villa Harmonie is next door and they can be rented together - please enquire as a discount applies when they are both rented at the same time. Rest assured that if you book La Maison des Harmonies by itself, the adjacent villa will not be rented out separately (although there is a small possibility that the hospitable but very kind owners may be present).
