You may even spot an A-list celebrity who have bought houses in this authentic and pretty village. Eygalières is known for its relaxed vibe alongside inviting little shops, weekly market, tree-lined lanes with café terraces and some wonderful restaurants from simple bistros to fine-dining establishments. Walk to the very top of the village for gorgeous views of Les Alpilles.

Back to this graceful house, Maison Tessa sleeps up to 6 guests across its three air-conditioned en suite bedrooms, one on the ground floor with a king-size double, TV and doors opening out to the garden, plus a twin and a queen-size double upstairs. Beneath the wood beams there is a delightful lounge and kitchen-diner both with fine furnishings and charming décor.

The garden is perfect for al-fresco meals in the shade of the covered terrace or lazy days relaxing by the heated swimming pool surrounded by agapanthuses, roses, olive trees and other sights of Provence. Considering its village setting, it feels like such a privilege to have this attractive outdoor space.
