

Maison Du Poisson

Region: Corsica Sleeps: 8

Overview

Well positioned outside the historic port town of Porto Vecchio on the southeastern side of Corsica, Maison Du Poisson is a four-bedroom villa fit for up to eight guests in spacious comfort and style. Upon entering the villa, you are met with an open living, dining and kitchen area, all of which is bathed in natural Corsican light flooding through large windows.

Homely furnishings and a tasteful décor create a clean and cosy atmosphere that caters to both relaxation and entertainment. The fully-equipped kitchen comes with a range of modern appliances including an electric coffee machine and a dishwasher.

Stepping outside, the extensive terrace complete with barbecue, is perfect for al fresco dining with friends and family, or for simply laying back on a deck chair to soak in the Mediterranean sun while sipping some of the Granite Isle's characterful wines, reading a book or dipping in and out of the private pool.

Within 15-20 minutes' walk (partially along the road) from the villa, a handful of stunning sandy beaches can be explored, including Plage de l'Ovu Santu, Plage des Amerikans and Plage de Fautea. The villa is also ideally situated to further explore the picturesque landscape of Sainte Lucie Porto-Vecchio, including easy access to nearby hikes that ramble up to scenic views or treading through enchanting local forests. What is more, only a short drive south and you'll find yourself in the centre of Porto-Vecchio, a historical harbour town where you can gently stroll, taking in the historical sites, local delicacies and chic shopping.

Maison Du Poisson is not just a holiday retreat, it's also a gateway to the beauty of Porto-Vecchio and the spectacular Corsican coastline. Whether you're looking to settle into the villa's indoor-outdoor lifestyle, relax by the pool, or immerse yourself in the local scenery, Maison Du Poisson is the perfect base.

Location & Local Information

Maison Du Poisson is ideally situated, allowing you to explore the richness of Corsican life and leisure. Within short walking distance (15-20 minutes) of the villa, partially along roads, a number of spectacular and invitingly sandy beaches can be found. But that is only the beginning. The Corsican landscape is a playground for nature enthusiasts with a plethora of hiking trails including the Punta Capicciola (easy trail great for families), and the Rando Sunshine trail which loops the Cavu Valley.

A short drive south from the villa will bring you to the charming harbour-hugging town of Porto-Vecchio, a blend of old-world charm and vibrant Corsican energy. Once an ancient Roman port, and boasting a 16th century citadel built into the hillside, you can potter through the narrow streets browsing boutiques or hop from quaint café to café trying the various local culinary delights.

The nearby Domaine de Torraccia winery offers the perfect opportunity to taste Corsica's bold wines grown from a singular terroir. The vineyard specialises in endemic Corsican grape varieties such as Niellucciu, Sciaccarellu and Vermentinu, which are imbued with the island's unique character.

For the history buffs, the Chateau Prehistorique d'Araghju consists of the remains of a bronze age castle built 2,500 years ago. Reached by a steep 30-minute walk from the carpark, the site offers unrivalled views of the surrounding countryside and the stretch of Corsican coastline that Maison Du Poisson calls home.
