Location & Local Information

Well situated in a residential area on the Bretan coast, Maison Safron is not short of nearby attractions and adventures. Nor is the villa without convenience. The local supermarket (500m, 2-minute drive) ensures you'll never have to travel far to stock up. Close by can also be found a restaurant, bakery, café, bicycle rental and a sandy beach.

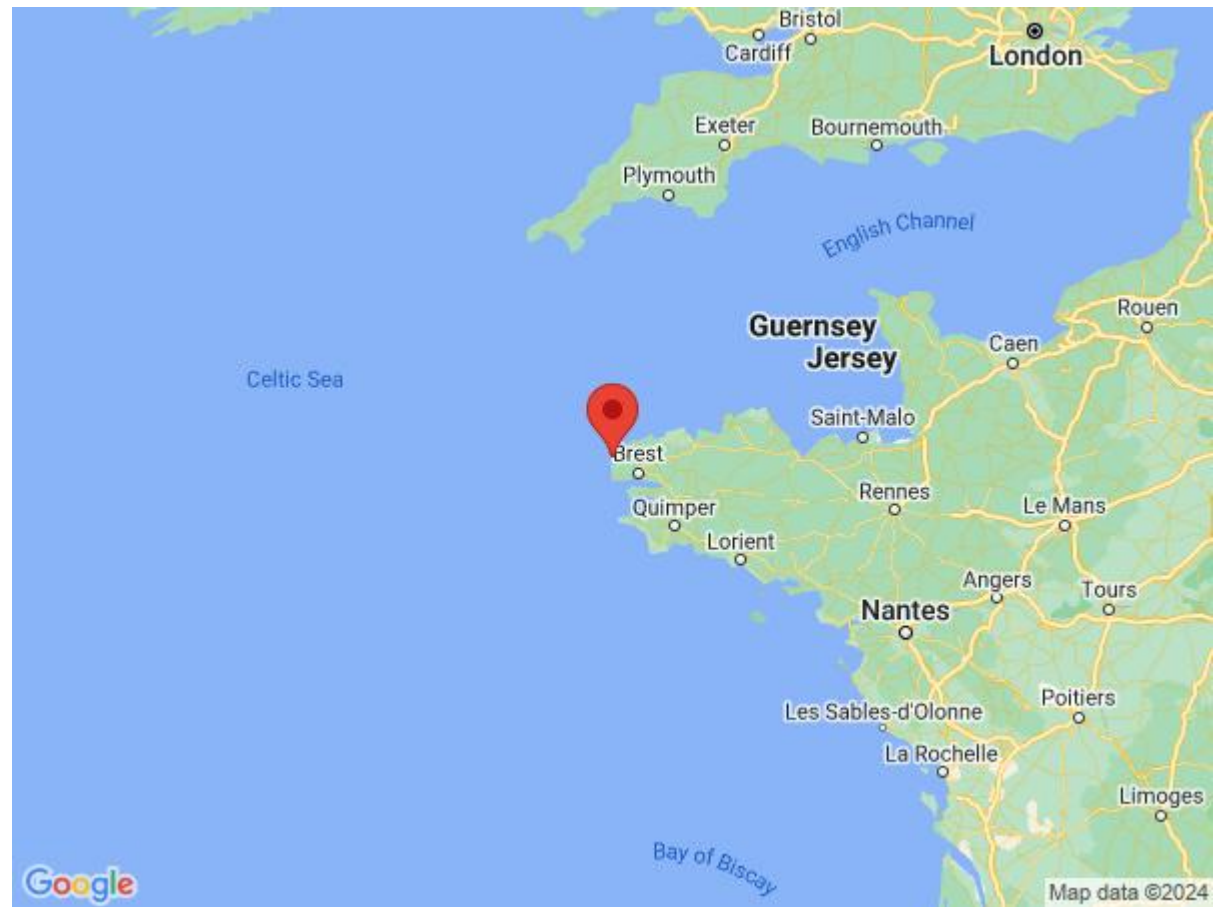

The rocky and rugged surrounding coastline proves an excellent landscape to explore, full of coves, beaches and quaint fishing villages. Set out for the Saint Laurent peninsula (6-minute drive, 25-minute walk) to find spectacular views of the wave-swept shore and open ocean, including a lighthouse, dunes and even Neolithic remains.

Slightly farther afield you can find numerous other prominent attractions, including the iconic Pointe Saint Mathieu lighthouse (35-minute drive) standing tall on the western tip of Brittany, and the remnants of the Fort de Bertheaume – a coastal fortress with a rich history.

At only a 45-minute drive from the villa you can reach the wonderful city of Brest, which styles itself as the city which feels like the ends of the earth. This vibrant maritime city is nestled in one of France's most stunning bays and is considered a Breton-style San Francisco thanks to its sloping grid pattern, distinctive downtown feel and central harbour. Wander along the left bank from Brest's National Botanical Conservatory to the castle. But don't forget to taste the local cuisine while you're in Brest, the city is renown for its oyster bars, restaurants and gastropubs.
